

SAS Fee Remission Terms and Conditions 2024/2025

Background

Council Ordinance 11 states:

Hardship and Remission of Fees.

Should a student suffer a serious deterioration in their financial circumstances while part of the way through their programme so that, although prior to beginning the programme they were confident of their ability to pay, they are no longer able to do so, they may claim hardship and the arrangement for this will be published by the University.

Such remission of fees can only be granted in very exceptional circumstances and successful applicants must also be able to demonstrate:

- That they expected to be able to pay their tuition fees for the duration of the course, when they registered for their course; but that due to unforeseeable circumstances they are no longer able to do so.
- That they have made every reasonable effort to meet their fees from other sources.
- That there is good reason to believe that a single remission of tuition fees should be sufficient to permit them to complete their programme without further recourse to financial support from the University.
- That they have been in good financial standing with the University throughout the duration of their programme.
- That they are in good academic standing with their academic College*

Conditions and Restrictions

In order to be eligible for a fee remission the student must:

- Normally be fully enrolled at Brunel University London to undertake their studies prior to the enrolment deadline for their programme.
- Where required, have a valid Confirmation of Acceptance for Studies (CAS) certificate, or relevant visa from the University.
- Have adhered to the Student Code of Conduct throughout their programme date.
- Have satisfactorily engaged with their studies throughout their programme to date.
- Have completed the relevant application and provided supporting evidence within the given timeframe.
- Be up to date with all tuition payments prior to the year of the fee remission application
- Be up to date with all accommodation payments (or have adhered to any agreed financial arrangement).
- Be able to evidence that they cannot fund the tuition fees from their own funds.
- Be able to provide evidence of paid part-time work, or evidence of actively seeking paid part-time work to support themselves during their programme.
- Be able to evidence, if required, that a single fee remission will be sufficient to allow the student to complete their current programme without additional tuition fee support from the University.

Please note that the University will not normally consider a fee remission on the basis of currency fluctuations.

Supporting Evidence

Students will be required to provide the following evidence prior to the closing date for the application period:

- Evidence of sufficient funding for tuition fees prior to commencing the programme (student loans, savings, part-time work, etc).
- Evidence of insufficient funds for tuition fees — bank statements for all bank accounts in the student's name (for 2 full months prior to the date of the fee remission application).
- Evidence of part-time employment (payslips, bank statements, P45 or P60).
OR
Evidence of engagement with the University Job Shop to secure part-time employment.

The detail

- The fee remission is available to eligible students up to a maximum of once per student on all programmes of study with Brunel University London.
- Fee remissions will be awarded by a panel which meets monthly.
- The panel dates for 2024/25 are listed at the end of this section.
- The application window for each term will close 2 weeks prior to the panel date, there are no exceptions. Applications received after this deadline will be considered at the next scheduled panel.
- Students who are fully self-funding their tuition fees are eligible to apply (students who have sponsorship for all or part of their tuition fees are not eligible to apply).
- Students on a programme of study that is more than one academic year, can apply for a fee remission after they enrol for the second year of the programme.
- Students on a 1-year programme of study can apply for a fee remission after the start of the third semester of the programme.
- The maximum fee remission available is 80% of the outstanding tuition fees at the time of the fee remission panel meeting.
- All applications are processed in accordance with the University's Data Protection Policy.

*Good academic standing is defined as follows:

- Undergraduate students – a minimum 2:1 degree classification profile at the time of the fee remission panel.
- Postgraduate taught students – passing 60% of their modules with no fails or reassessments at the time of the fee remission panel.
- Researchers – will require a reference from their primary supervisor confirming that they are progressing successfully and are due to complete their course as scheduled.

Researchers in receipt of a stipend from Brunel University London are not eligible for a fee remission.
